EASTERN DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA, to wit:

BE IT REMEMBERED, That on the nineteenth day of September, in the fiftieth year of the Independence of the United States of America, A. D. 1826, ROBERT DESILVER, of the said district, hath deposited in this office the title of a book, the right whereof he claims as proprietor, in the words following to wit:

"The United States' Almanack, comprising Calculations for the Latitudes and Meridians of the Northern Southern, and Western States, with a variety of public information and interesting Masonic matter; together with a correct list of the army and navy of the United States, members of congress, courts, &c., and the Constitution of the United States epitomised. Selected in order to be extensively useful throughout the Country to Travellers and Residents." By Seth Smith.

In conformity to the Act of the Congress of the United States, intituled "An act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts and books to the authors and proprietors of such copies, during the times therein mentioned."—And also to the act, entitled, "An act supplementary to an act entitled "An act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies during the times therein mentioned, and extending the benefits thereof to the arts of designing, engraving, and etching historical and other prints."

D. CALDWELL,

Clerk of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

SOLAR AND LUNAR ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1827.

1. Of the Sun on the fifth day of the fourth month, (April,) at 1 minute past 3 in the morning, invisible.
2. Of the Moon on the eleventh day of the fifth month, (May,) visible:

Beginning, at Philadelphia,	-	-	-	-	1 46	} Morning.
Middle,	-	-	-	-	3 19
Ecliptic conjunction,	-	-	-	-	3 24
End,	-	-	-	-	4 53

 Digits eclipsed, $11\frac{3}{4}$ D's southern limb.
3. Of the Sun on the twentieth day of the tenth month, (October,) at 45 minutes past 10 in the morning; invisible, on account of the Moon's south latitude.
4. Of the Moon on the third day of the eleventh month, (November,) invisible.

The hour of the sun's rising and setting is shown in the first and last rows of figures—the middle row of figures show how many minutes after and before these hours the rising or setting takes place: thus, for the tenth, at Philadelldhia and Columbus, we have the numbers 7 19 5 which shows that the sun rises 19 minutes after 7, and sets 19 minutes before 5.

A NEW WAY TO BOIL POTATOES.

Take a pint of saw dust, and an equal quantity of fine beach sand, and stir them in a kettle together; then add a double handful of coarse salt, and when the whole is warmed sufficiently, put in as many potatoes as the thing will hold, let them remain over a hot fire fifteen minutes and they are fit to eat.

TO RENDER SHOES WATER PROOF.

Mix a pint of drying oil, two ounces of yellow wax, two ounces of turpentine, and half an ounce of Burgundy pitch, carefully over a slow fire. Lay the mixture, whilst hot, on the boots or shoes with a sponge or soft brush; and when they are dry lay it on again and again, until the leather becomes quite saturated; that is to say, will hold no more. Let them then be put away, and not be worn until they are perfectly dry and elastic; they will afterwards be found not only impenetrable to wet, but soft and pliable, and of much greater durability.

TO WASH WOOLEN GOODS.

The art of washing woollen things so as to prevent them shrinking, is one of the desiderata in domestic economy worthy of being recorded. All descriptions of woollen goods should be well washed with soap in hot water, and as soon as the article has been cleansed, instantly immerse it in cold water, let it be wrung and hung up to dry.

FOR RHEUMATIC PAINS IN THE FACE OR TEETH.

To two spoonfuls of flour add the same quantity of grated ginger, incorporate them well together, and add spirits sufficient to make it into a thin paste. Spread this upon a linen rag, and apply it when going to bed to the part affected, wrapping a piece of flannel over all, and it will effect a cure.

TO CURE CORNS.

Apply a poultice at bed-time, sufficiently damp to preserve a moisture all night; in the morning it may be removed, safe and certain.

TO CURE WARTS.

The bark of the willow tree, burnt to ashes, and mixed with strong vinegar, forms a lixivium, which effectually eradicates, by repeated applications, warts, corns, and all cutaneous excrescences.

The late Sergeant Hill, of eccentric memory, was once invited to spend some days in the country with lord Erskine. His wife, who knew his characteristic negligence, advised him (inter alia) to put on a clean shirt every morning. "For this purpose," said she, "I have packed up six, which will, I have no doubt, last you during your visit." On the sergeant's return, his wife remarked how stout he had grown; adding, at the same time, a hope that he had complied with her request about the shirts. Her husband assured her that he had; but what was her astonishment on finding that, with his customary absence of mind, he had actually put on one over the other, and was at

TRICKS IN TRADE.

Two rogues in the city have been making a laughable experiment enough upon the force of truth, or puff, between them, and I believe the matter is to end in an application to the court of chancery; but, for the time, the imposter has carried the day. One of these people, who are both hair-dressers, and live opposite to each other, near the Exchange, is—or was lately—thriving, by selling the fat of bears as a kind of cosmetic. The other (his neighbour) knowing that it was just as good to sell any other material in pots, with “Bear’s Grease” for a label, as genuine bear’s grease, immediately started with the same “pots,” filled with an inexpensive unguent, in opposition.

The true dealer, who keeps forty live bears in his cellar, and has himself been taken up once a week before the sitting alderman, as a nuisance, by way of advertisement, killed a bear upon this, hung him up whole in full sight in his shop, and wrote in the window, “A fresh bear killed this day!” The imposter, who had but one bear in the whole world; which he privately led out of his house, after dark every night, and brought him back (to seem like a new supply going in) in the morning, continued his sale, writing in his window, "Our fresh bear will be killed to-morrow." The original vender then determined to cut off his rival's last shift—kept his bears, defunct, with the skins only half off, hanging up always at the door, proclaimed all bear's grease sold in "pots" a "vile imposture;" and desired his customers to "walk in" and see theirs, "with their own eyes, cut and weighed from the animal." This seemed conclusive for two days; but, on the third, the opponent was again in the field, with a placard "founded on the opinion of nine doctors of physic," that bear's grease "obtained from the animal in a tamed or domestic state, would not make any body's hair grow at all." In consequence of which, he "has formed an establishment in Russia (where all the best bears come from,) for catching them wild, cutting the fat off immediately, and putting it down for London consumption." And the rogue actually ruins his antagonist, without going to the expense of a bear's skin, by writing all over his house, "Licensed by the Imperial government—Here and at Archangel."

A gentleman who was in love with a lady, and had no opportunity to unfold his passion, appeared before her house, and cried out "Fire! fire! fire!" upon which she threw up her window and asked where; when he placed his hand upon his heart, and said, "Here, here, here."

A little boy, nine or ten years of age, was called as a witness at a late trial at Cambridge, England. After the oath was administered, the chief justice, with a view of ascertaining whether the boy was sensible of the nature and importance of an oath, addressed him, "Little boy, do you know what you have been doing?" "Yes, sir," the boy replied, "I have been keeping pigs for Mr. Banyard."

CURING A SCOLD.

In the early period of the history of Methodism, some of Mr. Wesley's opponents, in the excess of their zeal against enthusiasm, took up a whole wagon load of Methodists, and carried them before a magistrate. When they were asked what these persons had done, there was an awkward silence; at last, one of the accusers said, "Why they pretend to be better than other people; and, besides, they prayed from morning till night." The magistrate asked if they had done any thing else. "Yes, sir," said an old man, "An't please your worship, they converted my wife.—Till she went among them she had such a tongue! and now she is as quiet as a lamb." "Carry them back, carry them back," said the magistrate, "and let them convert all the scolds in the town."

A London paper stated, that a certain Alderman of that city, having been, on his departure from a dinner at the Mayoralty House, solicited by a poor woman for charity, for herself and five starving children, exclaimed, ANECDOTE.

During Congress, members of either house are, at times, invited to dine at the President's table. Once, with some others, a raw buckskin was thus honoured. Being awkward, and not knowing the names of the new fashioned dishes, when his plate was changed, and he was asked what he would choose next? "More bacon and greens," said he, true to old Virginia. And a while after, when his plate was again changed, and he was again asked what he would take next? he again answered, "I think I'll take a little more bacon and greens."—When, after dining, there was brought to the buckskin an ewer of water to rinse his fingertips, up he took the ewer, and drank it off; and presently again came the waiter with another ewer full, when he, already half bursted with water, began to quaff this also, not daring to refuse, in fear of being thought ungentle; but when about half done—"By Johah!" cried he, "I believe ye mean to burst me; and I'll be drowned is I drink any more."

HOT! HOT! ALL HOT!

Monsieur Chabert (the celebrated continental salamander) exhibited his power in withstanding the operation of the fiery element, at White Conduit Gardens, on Wednesday evening. In the first instance, he refreshed himself with a hearty meal of phosphorus, which was, at his own request, supplied to him very liberally, by several of his visiters, who were previously unacquainted with him. He washed down this infernal fare with solutions of arsenic and oxalic acid, thus throwing into the back ground the long established fame of Mithridates. He next swallowed with great gout, several spoonfuls of boiled oil, and, as desert to this delicate repast, helped himself with his naked hand to a considerable quantity of molten lead. There are, we know, preparations which so indurate the cuticle as to render it insensible to the heat either of boiling or melting lead, and the fatal qualities of certain poisons may be destroyed, if the medium through which they are imbibed, as we suppose to be the case here, is a strong alkali. We cannot, however, guess in what manner Monsieur Chabert effected neutralization, and it is but fair to state, that the exhibitor offered to swallow Prussic acid, perhaps the most powerful of known poisons, the effect of which is instantaneous, if any good natured person could furnish him with a quantity of it. During the period when this part of the entertainment (if entertainment it could be called,) was going on, an oven, about six feet by seven, was heated. For an hour and a quarter, large quantities of fagots were burned in it, until at length it was hot enough for the bed-chamber of his Satanic majesty. "O! for a muse of fire!" to describe what followed. Monsieur Chabert, who seems to be a living asbestos, entered this stove, accompanied by a rump steak and a leg of lamb, when the heat was about 220. He remained there, in the first instance, for ten minutes, till the steak was properly done, conversing all the time with the company, through a tin tube, placed in the sheet iron door of the oven.— Having swallowed a cup of tea, and having seen that the company had done justice to the meat he had already cooked, he returned to his fiery den, and continued there until the lamb was properly done.—This joint was devoured with such avidity by the spectators, as leads us to believe that, had Mons. Chabert himself been sufficiently baked, they would have proceeded to a Carribean banquet.—Many experiments, as to the extent to which the human frame could bear heat, without the destruction of the vital powers, have been tried from time to time; but, so far as we can recollect, Mons. Chabert's fire resisting qualities are greater than those professed by the individuals who, before him, have undergone this species of ordeal.

At the hotel, after supper, Count Zenobio related to me an incident that he had witnessed here a few years ago, which had produced a most uncommon interest and effect. A short thin man, whom nobody knew but by sight, suddenly became a constant attendant at the gaming tables. This man, during a whole fortnight, continued, night after night, in the most extraordinary manner, to win enormous sums of the faro bankers, as well as the surrounding betters. He wore spectacles, and appeared so short-sighted, that he was always obliged to touch the counters with his nose before he could distinguish the card. Such was his luck, that whatever card he backed was sure to win. On the last night of his appearance in Spa, one of the gamesters, a young half-intoxicated Irishman, had lost an unusually heavy sum. His temper was quite gone, and he vituperated his lucky opponent in a style that might have edified the most abusive fishwoman in Billingsgate. "D—n you, you old dog," he cried, "and most particularly d—n your spectacles!

By the powers, see if I wont try my luck myself in your cursed spectacles!" and snatching them from him, he put them on his face. At first he could distinguish nothing, but on approaching the cards, within three inches of his nose, he discovered that the spectacles were strong magnifiers. His suspicion and curiosity were immediately excited, and he turned to demand an explanation of the wearer, but he was gone. An examination then commenced, and the cause of this wonderful continuity of luck was speedily discovered. The cards in Spa are not bought of shopkeepers, as in England, but every autumn the proprietors of the gaming tables repair to the grand fair at Leipzig, and there purchase their stock for the year. Thither the spectacle gentleman had also hied, not as a buyer, but a seller of cards; and at such reduced rate, and of such excellent quality, that all the purchasers resorted to him; and Spa and several other towns were literally stocked solely with his cards. At the back of each of these, concealed amongst the ornaments, and so small as to be imperceptible to the unassisted eye, was its number, with a particular variation to denote the suit. Then, the rogue came to Spa disguised—with blackened hair and spectacles; and there, as a gentleman gambler, would have broken all the banks in Spa, but for the fury of the enraged Irishman. As it was, he decamped with several thousand pounds.”

When Frederick Reynolds, the dramatic writer, was in France, he visited Mons. Chamung, a chevalier of the order of St. Louis, who had two lovely daughters; the eldest of whom, understanding he did not speak French, said in that language, in a very low tone, to her sister, “My God! what a large nose?”—to which her sister replied, “Yes, ’tis like the beak of a parroquet.”

A DANGEROUS CASE.

Dr. A——, being sent for to a gentleman who had received a slight wound in a rencounter, gave orders to his servant to go home in all haste imaginable, and fetch a certain plaster; the patient, turning pale, “Lord sir, I hope there is no danger?” “Yes, indeed,” answered the doctor, “if the fellow don’t set up a good pair of heels, the wound will heal before he returns.”

A MUSICAL PADLOCK.

A certain old lady in Lancaster, whenever she hires a servant, asks him if he can whistle? On being requested to explain the cause of such a singular question, she replied, that when her servant went down to draw ale, she always made him whistle until he returned, by which means she insured his sobriety.

There is a grave account of a man who has been brought to life after having been frozen under an avalance for a hundred and seventy years! "Upon my soul it is true—what will you lay it is a lie?" Major Longbow, Mun-chausen, Ferdinand Mendez Pinto—hide your diminished heads! Mr. Dodsworth, that is the name of the gentleman who has been thus preserved in ice, complains, it appears, of feeling a little stiff in his joints; but, we should think, if they were bathed in mare's milk every day, or rubbed with sun-beams night and morning, he would soon recover their use. We subjoin the account, merely supplying one very obvious omission—we mean the date of the discovery. It was on the first of April; though according to one private letter which we have

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM IRELAND.

"I should have answered your letter a fort-night ago, hut I only received it this morning. Indeed, hardly a mail arrives safe without being robbed. Even yesterday, the coach and mail from Dublin was lately robbed near here—the bags had judiciously been left behind for fear of accidents, and by good luck there was nobody in the coach but two outside passengers, and they had nothing for the thieves to take.—They are to sew the coach for damages.

"If you dont receive this, it will have miscarried; you will therefore write directly to let me know.

AN ODD SLANDER.

There is an advertisement in a late number of the India Gazette, notifying the public, that steps would be taken to punish, to the utmost rigour of the law, all parties concerned in propagating a story, that the advertiser had means of paying all his debts.

PROOF OF IDIOTISM.

A country clergyman, by his dull monotonous discourse, set all the congregation asleep, except an idiot, who sat with open mouth listening. The parson, enraged, and thumping the pulpit, exclaimed, "What! all asleep but this poor idiot?"—"Ay, quoth the natural, and if I had not been a poor idiot, I would have been asleep too."

RECEIVED AND DELIVERED.

The following memorandum is in Sir James Balfour's works:—"1651, January 12.—This day lieutenant general Middleton was released from his examination, and did penance in sackcloth in Dundee church; and colonel Archibald Strachan was examined and delivered to the devil in the church of Perth on the same day."

A PUFF DIRECT.

An itinerant pedlar wishing to recommend his razors to the gaping crowd, thus addressed them:

"Gentlemen, the razors I hold in my hand were made by the light of a diamond, in the famous province of Andalusia, they cut as quick as thought, and are as bright as the morning star. A word or two more, and I am certain you will buy them. Lay them under your head at night, and you will find yourself clean shaved when you awake in the morning."

BLOODY WORK.

It is reported, that a couple of young sons of St. Crispin, who had both placed their affections on the same fair one, on Monday afternoon proceeded to Windmill, or as it is sometimes called, Gallows' Island, opposite Philadelphia, to settle their dispute in an honourable way, after the manner of gentlemen "in high places." Three shots were exchanged with as much coolness as could have been exhibited by Randolph or Clay, although one of them is reported to have turned a little pale, as the contents of his antagonist's pistol wizzed by his ear. After the third round, the parties, at the instance of their seconds, shook hands, and ended their quarrel over a pint of brandy. It has been since ascertained, that the pistols were loaded the first time with paper balls; the second time with sand, and the last time with quids of tobacco.

IGNORANT MAYOR.

In the reign of Charles I, a mayor of Norwich actually sent a fellow to prison for saying that the prince of Wales was born without a SHIRT.

FORGIVING HUSBAND.

Jos. Matthews, of Gardiner, says, "whereas my wife Irena, like Noah's dove, has returned to my bed, and behaves as a pleasant wife, this is to revoke my former advertisement."

ROYAL SHOOTING.

It has been wittily observed, that the virtues go by seniority in the royal family. Not only the virtues, but all the accomplishments, down even to shooting, go by seniority in the royal family. We have heard from a witness, that no farce on the stage ever surpassed the shooting excursions of the D. of Y— and the D. of C—.

The brothers, who used formerly to be companions on these occasions, shot on preserves swarming with pheasants, but neither of them had the art of holding his gun in the direction of the bird, and supplied with loaded matons as fast as they could be handed by the servants, pop, pop, pop, pop, pop, pop, was heard without a moment's cessation, and nothing but pop, pop, pop, came of it. At last by good fortune, up would rise some pursy great-grandfather of a pheasant, that had seen many generations of pheasants pass away, an alderman of a bird, so corpulent and heavy, that he could hardly wag his slow wings. Flap—flap—flap, he goes, at the rate of twenty yards a minute, before the very muzzles of the Royal matons. Both brothers fire about twenty shots at him, while he majestically sails by in front of their pieces, and one shot at last by good luck takes effect, and down drops the unwieldy old gentleman. The two sportsmen are now in ecstasies, while all the colonels and generals, the sir Johns and sir Charles, composing the cortege, are in admiration lost. "A capital shot! a surprising shot! never saw such a shot in my life!" is the cry of every one. "Why," says the Duke of Y—, "I believe, gentlemen, THAT was rather a good shot. I knew I had made sure of him."

It was not an EASY shot, either; but still I was pretty certain of him," "Oh, a surprising shot! an excellent shot indeed!"—exclaim the chorus—"never saw a better!" The Duke of C—now thinks it high time to put in his claim: "The shot was a good shot, a very good shot, brother, but I made it; it's my bird, I assure you." Duke of Y:—"Your bird, brother! Oh, you're quite mistaken—were never more mistaken in your life. It's my bird. I shot it; though I dare say you think you did, as you say so. But you know, my dear C—, that you're an excellent fellow, the best fellow in the world; but you never could shoot,—you know you never could." Here an altercation takes place, turning on—"I did," and "You did not;" till at last appeal is made to the gamekeepers, who decide unanimously, that the bird is the Duke of Y—'s. Thus slioting, like the virtues, goes by seniority in the royal family.

A FAMILY CONNEXION.

A negro passing along Fleet street, was astonished at hearing a voice call out, "How d'ye do, massa Mungo, how d'ye do, Snowball?" and on looking up, observed it proceeded from a gilt cage. "Aha massa parrot," said Blackee, "you great man here, you live in gold house now, but me know your fader very well; he lib in bush.

A LUDICROUS MISTAKE.

A gentleman accustomed to the signature of the firm in which he was a partner, having to sign a baptismal register of one of his children, entered it as "The son of Smith, Jones & Co."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A pedantic English traveller, boasting that he had been so fortunate as to escape Mr. Jefferson's celebrated non-importation law, was

NEWS INDEED.

The Boston Chronicle in giving an account of the celebration of the 4th of July, concluded with "the afternoon closed at sunset."

TAPPING.

After a consultation, several physicians decided that a dropsical patient should be tapped.

Upon hearing of the decision of the doctors, a son of the sick man approached him and exclaimed, "Father! don't submit to the operation, for there was never any thing tapped in our house that lasted more than a week."

SPORTING.

A short time since, some gentlemen were enjoying the diversion of coursing, and having lost sight of the hare, one of the party rode up to a boy, when the following dialogue ensued. Boy have you seen a hare running this way, followed by dogs? Answer. What do you mean

LOGIC.

A journeyman tailor having sold a coat for nine dollars, and entered it in his employer's book at eleven, was told he had made a blunder. "The purchaser gave me a ten dollar note, and I returned him one dollar,—ten and one are eleven—so the entry stands right," replied the journeyman.

THE STAGE.

As Suetor and Bannister were walking together, a fellow on the roof of a stage coach cried out, "How are you Dicky Gossip?" "Why, how should that fellow know me," said Suetor, "Well enough," replied Bannister, "don't you see he is on the stage."

ITALIAN MONARCH.

An Italian monarch taking an ambassador to his court, to a high balcony, remarked—"This is the balcony over which one of my ancestors made an ambassador leap." Upon which the envoy coolly observed, "I presume ambassadors did not wear swords in those days,"

YAWNING.

“You are always yawning,” said a woman to her husband.” “My dear,” replied he, “the husband and wife are one, and when I am alone I grow weary.

THE DARDANELLES.

An ignorant fellow was boasting that in his travels he had been caressed every where, and that he had seen all the great in Europe. “Have you seen the Dardanelles,” said one of the company, “Yes,” replied he, “I dined with them at Gibraltar and found them to be excellent company.”

THE POINT OF DEATH.

A young lady going into the barrack room at Fort George, saw an officer toasting a slice of bread on the point of his sword, upon which she exclaimed, “I think Sir, you have got the staff of life on the point of death.”

A DECISIVE ANSWER.

A gentleman having been engaged in a dispute, received a challenge, and was asked “to name the place, time, and friend,” to which he promptly answered; “The grave-yard, Picadilly—twelve o’clock, P. M.—the sexton of the parish.”

An Irishman and his family landing at Philadelphia, was assisted on shore by a negro, who spoke to Patrick in Irish. The latter taking the black fellow for one of his own countrymen, asked how long he had been in America—about four months was the reply. The chop fallen Irishman turned to his wife and exclaimed; "But four months in this country, and almost as black as jet."

A young man who was a very great talker, making a bargain with Isocrates, to be taught by him, Isocrates asked double the price that his other scholars gave him; "And the reason," said he, "is, that I must teach thee two sciences; one to speak, the other to hold your tongue."

The Cahawba (Alabama) Press, says that moschetoes are so numerous and voracious on Indian Key, coast of Florida, that they keep the hogs squealing, the dogs barking, and the fowls cackling all night!

MATRIMONY.

A lady meeting a girl who had lately left her service inquired, "Well Mary, where do you live now?" "Please Madam, I don't live now, I'm married," replied the girl.

FRENCH POLITENESS.

A mayor of a small village in France having occasion to give a passport to a distinguished personage in his neighbourhood, who was blind of one eye, was in great embarrassment on coming to the description of his person. Fearful of offending the great man, he adopted the following ingenious expedient of avoiding the mention of his deformity. He wrote "Black eyes, one of which is absent."

JUDGE JEFFRIES.

Judge Jeffries, of notorious memory, pointing with his cane to a man who was about to be tried, said, "there is a rogue at the end of my cane." The man to whom he pointed, looking at him, said, "at which end my lord?"

THE TAILOR.

A tailor grown tired of the shop-board, took a bold leap from his seat into the pulpit, where he soon acquired great popularity. Elated with success, he attempted to convert the dean of St. Patrick to the true faith. Accordingly he introduced himself to Swift, saying, "I have a commission from heaven to teach you the proper application, which you have so long abused. "I believe you," replied Swift, "as you come to relieve the perplexed state of my mind at this very instant, you are well acquainted no doubt with the passage in the Revelation of St. John, where he describes a mighty Angel coming down from Heaven, with a rainbow on his head, a book open in his hand, and setting his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot upon the earth. I am quite at a loss to calculate the extent of such a stride; but I know it

An Act concerning damages on bills of exchange, passed by the legislature of Pennsylvania, on the 30th March, 1821.

Section 1. Be it enacted, That whenever any bill of exchange hereafter to be drawn or endorsed within this Commonwealth upon any person or persons, or body corporate, of or in any state, territory, or place, shall be returned unpaid with a legal protest, the person or persons to whom the same shall or may be payable, shall be entitled to recover and receive of and from the drawer or drawers, or the endorser; or the endorsers, of such bills of exchange, the damages hereinafter specified, over and above the principal sum for which such bill of exchange shall have been drawn, and the charges of protest, together with lawful interest on the amount of such principal sum, damages and charges of protest, from the time at which notice of such protest shall have been given, and the payment of said principal sum and damages and charges of protest demanded; that is to say, if such bill shall have been drawn upon any person or persons, or body corporate, of, or in any of the United States or territories thereof, excepting the state of Louisiana, five per cent. upon such principal sums. If upon any person or persons, or body corporate, of or in Louisiana, or of or in any other state or place in North America or the islands thereof, excepting the north west coast of America and Mexico, or of or in any of the West India or Bahama Islands, ten per cent. upon such principal sum. If upon any person or persons, or body corporate, of or in the island of Madeira, the Canaries, the Azores, the Cape de Verde Islands, the Spanish Main, or Mexico, fifteen per cent. upon such principal sum. If upon any person or persons, or body corporate, of or in any state or place in Europe, or any of the islands thereof, twenty per cent. on such principal sum. If on any person or persons, or body corporate, of or in any other part of the world, twenty-five per cent. on such principal sum.

Sec. 2. Be it enacted, That the damages, which by this act are to be recovered upon any bill of exchange, shall be in lieu of interest and all other charges, except the charge of protest, to the time when notice of the protest and demand of payment shall have been given and made as aforesaid, and the amount of such bill and of the damages payable thereon as specified in this act, shall be ascertained and determined by the rate of exchange, or value of the money or currency mentioned in such bill at the time of notice of protest and demand of payment as before mentioned.

Sec. 3. Be it enacted, That the act passed in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred, entitled, "An Act concerning Bills of Exchange," be and the same is hereby repealed.

BY-LAWS OF THE PHILADELPHIA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Article I. Any person may be elected a member of this Corporation who is a citizen of the United States and engaged in business in the city of Philadelphia as a merchant, trader, ship owner, importer, exporter, director of a marine insurance office, or marine insurance broker, and every such person desirous of becoming a member, must be nominated at a stated meeting at least one month before he can be chosen. If on ballot, three or more negatives shall appear against a candidate, he shall be rejected, and he shall not be again nominated before the expiration of a year after such rejection.

Art. II. Stated meetings of this corporation shall be held on the third Tuesday in every month, and special meetings may be called by the president. Both special and stated meetings may be continued by adjournment. Nine members shall constitute a quorum.

Art. III. The officers of the Chamber shall be chosen from among the members by ballot, at the stated meeting in the month of January of every year, but no officer shall receive any compensation for his services except the secretary.

Art. IV. The president shall preside at the meetings of the Chamber. He may adjourn a meeting if a quorum cannot be formed, and shall superintend the affairs of the corporation in general. In his absence, one of the vice-presidents shall exercise all his rights and discharge all his duties.

Art. V. The treasurer shall receive all moneys belonging to the Chamber, and shall disburse the same on orders drawn by the president and countersigned by the secretary. He shall lay his accounts, accompanied by a list of the outstanding dues, before the Chamber, at the stated meeting in January in every year, whereupon auditors shall be appointed to examine the same and report to the Chamber.

Art. VI. The secretary shall keep fair minutes of all the transactions of the Chamber. He shall keep a correct list of its members, and perform such other duties as are hereinafter specified.

Art. VII. At all the meetings of the Chamber, the secretary shall enter the names of the members present on the minutes, and he shall furnish the chairman of each committee with a copy of the resolutions whereby they were appointed.

Art. VIII. In cases of mercantile disputes between members of this Chamber, at the request of either of the parties, a committee of three members shall be chomen to adjust and determine the same, one of whom shall be chosen by each party, and if the parties cannot agree on the third, he shall be chosen by the secretary. They shall be called together by the secretary, and any member of the committee who shall not attend when so called, shall pay to the treasurer for the use of the Chamber the sum of one dollar for every time of non-attendance, unless excused by the Chamber;—provided, nevertheless, that no member shall be called upon to serve oftener than twice in any one year. The secretary shall keep fair minutes of the proceedings of every committee so constituted, and shall at the next stated meeting of the Chamber, report their decision, which shall be final between the parties.

Art. IX. Each member, on being admitted, shall pay the sum of eight dollars, besides the annual sum of five dollars. No member, who is two years in arrears, will be admitted to vote on any occasion.

Art. X. Every member of this corporation, who shall refuse to conform to these by-laws, shall forfeit his membership.

Art. XI. A quorum being present, the president shall take the chair, and on a call to order, the members shall take their seats and proceed to business, avoiding all private conversation.

Art. XII. Every member who speaks, shall rise and address the chair. No person shall speak oftener than twice on the same subject, unless by permission or by way of explanation. Members deviating from the subject, shall be immediately called to order.

Art. XIII. All motions shall be made in writing, if required by the president or by two members, and no debate shall be permitted, except on a motion regularly made, seconded and stated from the chair. But this article shall not be so construed as to prevent a member from prefacing any proposition he may be about to make.

Art. XIV. Every motion, made in writing, shall be read by the member so making it, in his place, previously to offering it to the chair.

Art. XV. The president shall be judge of all questions of order, and may call the transgressing members to order as often as they infringe the rules of the Chamber. But any member called to order by the president, may explain himself, and may appeal to the Chamber, and if seconded, the Chamber shall decide.

Art. XVI. No business before the Chamber shall be interrupted, except by motion for the previous question, postponement, commitment, amendment, or adjournment.

Art. XVII. A motion for the previous question, postponement, or re-commitment, shall preclude amendment or decision on the original subject, until such motion shall be decided upon; but the previous question shall not be moved by less than four members.

Art. XVIII. A member may call for the division of a question when the sense will admit of it.

Art. XIX. No member of this corporation, after having appeared in the Chamber, shall leave the same without permission of the president.

Art. XX. None of the foregoing by-laws shall be rescinded or altered, or any new ones made, unless by a majority of the Chamber, at which there shall be thirteen members present, and after a regular notice given, at a previous stated meeting, of any proposed alterations or additions.

BOARD OF WARDENS.

DAVID MAFFIT—MASTER WARDEN.

REGULATIONS OF THE PORT.

WILLIAM HAWKS—HARBOUR MASTER.

If any master, or captain of any ship or vessel, or other person, shall refuse or neglect to comply with the directions of said harbour master, in matters within the jurisdiction of his office, such person shall, for each and every such offence, severally forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars. And the said harbour master shall, in full compensation for his services, be entitled to have, recover, and receive, from the master, captain, owner, or consignee, of each and every ship or vessel, arriving at the port of Philadelphia, coasting vessels not exceeding the burthen of 75 tons excepted, the sum of one dollar, for each and every voyage, by such ship or vessel performed, and no more.

Every ship or vessel that may arrive in this harbour, and that shall come to anchor in the stream, any where between Almond and Vine streets, having previously caused her gunpowder, if any she had on board, to be landed, as the law directs, may remain in that situation twenty-four hours and no longer, taking care to lay as near to the island or sand bar, as may be consistent with their safety. But, if from the circumstance of a vessel having servants on board, or from any other cause, it may be thought necessary or convenient, to lay a longer time in the stream, then, and in every such case, the owner, master, pilot, or other person, having the charge or direction of such vessel, shall remove her from opposite the city, and shall moor her, or cause her to be moored to the northward of Vine street, with one anchor and cable up, and one anchor and cable down the stream; and in both the above mentioned situations, the regulation contained in the next succeeding article to be duly attended to.

If any vessel, properly moored in the stream, shall have her anchor or cable overlaid by another vessel, in anchoring or mooring, the master or person having the care or direction of such last mentioned vessel, shall immediately, or as soon as may be, after application made to him by the party aggrieved, cause the said anchor or cable, so overlaying, to be taken up and cleared.

When any ship or vessel shall be hauled in to any wharf or dock, or alongside of another vessel that may be lying at such wharf or dock, the owner, master, pilot, or whoever may have the command, care, or direction of her, shall have her securely made fast; and if outside of another vessel, shall get one good fast from each end of the vessel to the shore, with sufficient fenders between them and the inside vessel, and shall cause the flews of their anchors to be taken in board, and within twenty-four hours thereafter cause her jib-boom, spritsail yard, main boom, spanker and ring-tail booms, if any they have, to be rigged in, and their lower yards topped up, in such a manner as least to interfere with vessels passing.

If the fasts of vessels when moored at a wharf, shall extend across a dock, so as to obstruct the passing or repassing of shallops, lighter or other craft or vessel the master, or other person having the command of such ship or vessel, shall upon the first application, immediately cause such fast or fasts to be cast off, or slacked down.

No outward-bound vessel, putting off from a wharf, shall lay longer in the stream between Vine street and Almond, in the district of Southwark, above mentioned, than twenty-four hours. And if vessels lying at the end of wharves so much interlock with each other, as to prevent vessels hauling in and out of docks, the master, owner, pilot, or other person having the charge of the same, shall, immediately on application from any person so wanting to haul his vessel in or out of the dock aforesaid, have the vessel or vessels, so interfering, moved in such a manner as to accommodate the one applied for; in which case, the vessel making room for another to haul in or out, shall have liberty to make her warps fast to the most convenient place adjacent, for a reasonable time, and that all sea vessels, when transporting or wanting to haul into a wharf or dock, or to make sail in order to proceed to sea, shall have the same privilege.

When any ship or vessel may be lying alongside any wharf, and not taking in or discharging, she shall make way for, and permit any vessel, that wants to unload or load, to come inside next the wharf, until she discharges or loads her cargo; and the said vessel when so discharged, or loaded, shall haul outside, and give way to the vessel that first occupied the wharf; provided, that from the 10th day of December to the 1st of March, no vessel shall be compelled to move from her berth, (only those at Gloucester Point piers,) excepting to let vessels in and out of docks.

No ship or vessel loading or discharging hemp at any wharf, or within any dock, shall be allowed to have any fire on board; neither shall any vessel lying outside or near her, be permitted to have fire on board, while it may be considered dangerous. And no tar, turpentine, rosin, or pitch, shall be heated on the wharf, or on board any vessel lying at any wharf within the limits of the city.

Every vessel arriving from, or bound to, a foreign port, is required by law to receive a pilot, or, to pay half pilotage in the Warden's Office, where the master of every such vessel is required, under a penalty of ten dollars, to make report within thirty-six hours after his arrival, and again before his departure, signing his name to said report in the Warden's book.

Every vessel of seventy-five tons, and upwards, arriving from, or bound to, any port within the United States, and the masters of all such vessels, are bound as above.

The pilot of every vessel is required to inform the master of his having to report at the Warden's Office.

All vessels obliged to receive a pilot, are required to pay ten dollars in addition, as winter pilotage, from the 20th day of November to the 10th day of March, both days inclusive.

Foreign vessels, i. e. French, Spanish, Portuguese, Neapolitan, Danish, Russian, South American, and Haytien, to pay two dollars and sixty-seven cents in addition to other pilotage.

Every pilot, detained more than twenty-four hours, by any master, owner, or consignee, is entitled to two dollars per day, for every day he is so detained.

Every pilot, detained more than forty-eight hours, by the ice, after he has conducted his vessel to a place of safety, is entitled to two dollars per day, for every day he is so detained.

Every pilot, compelled to perform quarantine, is entitled to two dollars per day, for every day he is so detained, and cannot be discharged in less than six days, without his consent.

Every pilot, obliged by the ice, or stress of weather, to proceed to another port, is, when there, entitled to his pilotage; and if there discharged, to eight cents a mile for every mile he has to travel home.

Every pilot is required, under a penalty of twelve dollars, to make report, within forty-eight hours, at the Warden's Office, of every vessel he conducts to the city.

REGULATION OF THE HEALTH OFFICE OF PHILADELPHIA.

From the 1st of June to the 1st of October, every vessel from south of Cape Fear, from a foreign port, or having any person or goods from a foreign port, or any sick person on board, must stop at the Lazaretto, and suffer no person to come on board, or person or goods to go on shore, until permitted by the Lazaretto Physician:—if above one hundred and fifty tons, may anchor in the outer channel, west end of Tinicum Island, and hoist a whift at top-gallant mast-head, under similar restrictions. Penalty of neglect or disobedience, five hundred dollars.

From the 1st of October to the 1st of June, they must come to anchor opposite the city, until permitted by the Port Physician. Penalty of neglect or disobedience, two hundred dollars: same penalty on giving false answers, or for employing any one who has escaped from the Lazaretto.

When the captain has the Physician's permit, he must go to the Health Office then to the Custom House, and then to the Warden's Office.

HEBREW SYNAGOGUE.

First rate ship, mounting guns on three decks.

Lord Nelson—rated 120 guns, carrying 34 guns on the lower deck, 32 pounders; 34 guns on the middle deck, 24 pounders; 34 guns on the main deck, 18 pounders; 24 guns on the quarter deck and forecastle, 32 pound carronades. Total, 126. Weight of shot, 3284 pounds.

Second class of first rate, mounting guns on three decks.

Queen Charlotte—rated 110 guns, carrying 32 guns on the lower deck, 32 pounders; 32 guns on the middle deck, 18 pounders; 32 guns on the main deck, 12 pounders; 22 guns on the quarter deck and forecastle, 32 pound carronades. Total, 118. Weight of shot, 2686 pounds.

Third class of three deck ships.

* Victory—rated 98 guns, carrying 30 guns on the lower deck, 32 pounders; 30 guns on the middle deck, 18 pounders; 30 guns on the main deck, 12 pounders; 22 guns on the quarter deck and fore-castle, 9 pounders. Total, 112. Weight of shot, 2049 pounds.

Second rate, mounting guns on two decks.

* Pompie—rated 80 guns, carrying 32 guns on the lower deck, 32 pounders; 32 guns on the main deck, 24 pounders; 22 guns on the quarter deck and fore-castle, 12 pounders. Total, 86. Weight of shot, 2056 pounds.

Third rate, mounting guns on two decks.

Kent—rating 74 guns, carrying 30 guns on the lower deck, 32 pounders; 30 guns on the main deck, 18 pounders; 22 guns on the quarter deck and fore-castle, 32 pounders. Total, 82. Weight of shot, 2204 pounds.

Second class of 74 guns rated, carrying guns on two decks.

Thunderer—30 guns on the lower deck, 32 pounders; 30 guns on the main deck, 12 pounders; 22 guns on the quarter deck and fore-castle, 32 pounders. Total, 85. Weight of shot, 2024 pounds.

There were formerly 64 gun ships in the line of two decks, but they are now used for convoys, store ships, &c.

The North Carolina heaves a heavier broadside than any other ship in the world, without her gangway guns, by 304 pounds. This, sir, is a fact: the largest ship in the world, was the Spanish admiral's ship, St. Santissima Trinidad, which was sunk off Trafalgar, by the British fleet; she did not heave a heavier broadside than the North Carolina. I was on board of her the evening previous to her sinking, after the battle.

Your humble servant,

JAS. BURNETT.

AN INTERESTING LETTER,

From an aunt in Ireland, to her nephew, dated June 2, 1789.

Dear Nephew.—I have not written to you since my last before now, because we had moved from our former place of living, and I did not know where a letter would find you: but I now with pleasure take my pen to inform you of the melancholy news of the very sudden death of your only living uncle Kilpatrick, who died very suddenly last week after a lingering illness of five months. The poor man was in violent convulsions the whole time of his sickness, laying perfectly quiet, and speechless, all the while talking incoherently, and calling for water. I had no opportunity of informing you of his death sooner, except I had wrote you by last post, which went off two days before he died, and then you would have had postage to pay.

* Those two ships I have served five years in. The Victory was the ship that bore Lord Nelson's flag in the battle of Trafalgar, where he received his death wound. That ship is old, and is now reduced in her size and guns, to the rate you see.

I am at a loss to tell what his death was occasioned by, but I fear it was brought on by his last sickness, for he was never well ten days together, during the whole of his confinement, and I believe his sickness was occasioned by his eating too much of rabbits stuffed with peas and gravy, or pease and gravy stuffed with rabbits, I can't tell which, but be that as it will, as soon as he breathed his last, the doctor gave over all hopes of his recovery.

I need not tell you any thing about his age, for you well know, that in December next, he would have been 25 years old, lacking ten months, and had he lived till then he would then have been just six months dead. His property now devolves to his next kin, who all died some time ago, so that I expect it will be divided between us, and you know that his property was something very considerable, for he had a fine estate, which was sold to pay his debts, and the remainder he lost on a horse race: but it was the opinion of every body at the time, that he would have won the race, if the horse he run against had not been too fast for him.

I never saw a man, and the doctors all said so, that observed directions and took medicine better than he did, he said he had as lief drink water gruel as wine, if it had the same taste, and would as soon take jalap as eat beef stakes, if it had the same relish. But, poor soul, he will never eat or drink more, and now you have not a living relation in the world except myself and your two cousins, who were killed in the last war. I can't dwell on this mournful subject, and shall seal my letter with black sealing wax, and put on it your uncle's coat of arms, so I beg you not to break the seal when you open the letter, and don't open it for three or four days after you receive it, by which time you will be prepared for the sorrowful tidings. When you come to this place stop, and do not read any more till my next.

From an English Magazine.

DINNER IN THE STEAM BOAT.

“They fool me to the top of my bent.”—Shakspeare.

“Come, Mrs. Suet, Mrs. Hoggins, Mrs. Sweetbread, Mrs. Cleaver! dinner's ready; shall I show you the way down to the cabin? we mustn't spoil good victuals though we are sure of good company. Lauk! what a monstrous deal of smoke comes out of the chimney. I suppose they are dressing the second course; every thing roasted by steam, they say,—how excessively clever! As to Mrs. Dip, since she's so high and mighty, she may find her own way down. What! she's afraid of spoiling her fine shawl, I reckon, though you and I remember, Mrs. Hoggins, when her five shillings Welsh whittle was kept for Sunday's church, and good enough too, for we all know what her mother was. Good Heavens! here comes Undertaker Croak, looking as down in the mouth as the root of my tongue: do let me get out of his way; I wouldn't sit next to him for a rump and dozen, he does tell such dismal stories that it quite gives one the blue devils. He is like a night-mare, isn't he, Mr. Smart?”—“He may be like a mare by night,” replied Mr. Smart, with a smirking chuckle, “but I consider him more like an ass by day—He! he! he!” Looking round for applause at this sally, he held out his elbows, and taking a lady, or rather a female, under each arm, he danced towards the hatchway, exclaiming, “Now I am ready trussed for table, liver under one wing, and gizzard under the other.”—“Keep a civil tongue in your head, Mr. Smart; I don't quite understand being called a liver—look at the sparks coming out of the chimney, I declare I'm frightened to death.” “Well, then you are of course no longer a liver,” resumed the facetious Mr. Smart; “so we may as well apply to Mr. Croak

to bury you.'—'O Gemini! don't talk so shocking. I had rather never die at all than have such a fellow as that to bury me.'—'Dickey, my dear!' cried Mrs. Cleaver to her son, who was leaning over the ship's side with a most wo-begone and emetrical expression of countenance, 'hadn't you better come down to dinner? There's a line o' mutton, besides a rare hock of bacon, which, I dare say, will settle your stomach.'—'O mother,' replied the young Cockney, 'that 'ere cold beef steak and inguns vat you put up in the pocket hankerchief, vasn't good I do believe, for all my hinsides are of a work.'—'Tell 'em it's a holiday,' cried Smart.—'O dear, O dear!' continued Dick, whose usual brazen tone was subdued into a lacadaisical whine, 'I vant to reach and I can't—vat shall I do mother?'—'Stand on tiptoe, my darling,' replied Smart, imitating the voice of Mrs. Cleaver, who began to take in high dungeon this horse-play of her neighbour, and was proceeding to manifest her displeasure in no very measured terms, when she was fortunately separated from her antagonist, and bore down the hatchway by the dinner-desiring crowd, though sundry echoes of the word 'Jackanapes!' and 'imperent feller,' continued audible above the confused gabble of the gangway.

'Well, but Mr. Smart,' cried Mrs. Suet, as soon as she had satisfied the cravings of her appetite, 'you promised to tell me all about the steam, and explain what it is that makes them wheels go round as fast as those of our one horse chay, when Jem Ball drives the trotting mare.'—'Why ma'am, you must understand—' 'Who called for sandwiches and a tumbler of negus?' bawled the steward,—'Who called for the savages and tumbling negroes?' replied Mr. Smart.—'Yes ma'am, you saw the machinery, I believe—(capital boil'd beef)—there's a thing goes up and a thing goes down, all made of iron; well, that's the hydrostatic principle; then you put into the boiler—(a nice leg of mutton, Mrs. Sweetbread)—let me see, where was I? In the boiler, I believe. Ah! it's an old trick of mine to be getting into hot water. So, ma'am, you see they turn all the smoke that comes from the fire on the wheels; that makes them spin round, just as the smoke-jack in our chimneys turns the spit; and then there's the safety valve in case of danger, which lets all the water into the fire, and so puts out the steam at once. You see, ma'am, it's very simple, when once you understand the trigonometry of it,' 'O perfectly, but I never had it explained to me before. It's vastly clever, isn't it? How could they think of it? Shall I give you a little of the salad? La, it isn't dressed; what a shame!' 'Not at all,' cried Smart, 'none of us dressed for dinner, so that we can hardly expect it to be dressed for us. He! he! he!' 'Did you hear that, Mrs. H.!' exclaimed Mrs. Suet, turning to Mrs. Hoggins, 'that was a good one, warn't it? Drat it, Smart, you are a droll one.'

Here the company were alarmed by a terrified groan from Mr. Croak, who ejaculated, 'Heaven have mercy upon us! did you hear that whizzing noise?—there it is again! there's something wrong in the boiler—if it bursts, we shall all be in Heaven in five minutes.'—'The Lord forbid!' ejaculated two or three voices, while others began to scream, and were about to quit their places, when the steward informed them that it was nothing in the world but the spare steam which they were letting off.—'Ay, so they always say,' resumed Croak, with an incredulous tone and wo-begone look; 'but it was just the same on board the American steamboat that I was telling you of—fifty-two souls sitting at dinner, laughing and chatting for all the world as we are now, when there comes a whiz, such as we heard a while ago—God help us! there it is once more—and bang! up blew the boiler—fourteen persons scalded to death—large pieces of their flesh found upon the banks of the river, and a little finger picked up next day in an oyster shell, which by the ring upon it was known to be the captain's. But don't be alarm'd, ladies and gentlemen; I dare say we shall escape any scalding, as we're all in the cabin, and so we shall only go to the bottom smack! Indeed we may arrive safe—they do sometimes, and I wish we may now, for nobody loves a party of pleasure more than I do.'

I hate to look upon the gloomy side of things when we're all happy together (here another groan,) and I hope I haven't said any thing to lower the spirits of the company.

'There's no occasion,' cried Smart, 'for I saw the steward putting water into every bottle of brandy.' The laugh excited by this bon-mot, tended in some degree to dissipate the alarm and gloom which the boding Mr. Croak had been infusing into the party; and Smart, by way of fortifying their courage, bade them remark that the sailors were obviously under no apprehension.' 'Ay,' resumed the persevering Mr. Croak 'they are used to it—it is their business—they are bred to the sea.' 'But they don't want to be bread to the fishes, any more than you or I,' retorted Smart, chuckling at his having the best of the nonsense.

'W,' exclaimed Mrs. Sweetbread, 'I never tasted such beer as this—flat as ditch-water; they should have put it upon the cullender to let the water run out; and yet you have been drinking it, Smart, and never said any thing about it,' 'Madam,' replied the party thus addressed, laying his hand upon his heart, and looking very serious, 'I make it a rule never to speak ill of the dead. I am eating the ham, you see, and yet it would be much better if I were to let it exemplify one of Shakespeare's soliloquies—Ham-let-alone.' 'La! you're such a wag,' cried Mrs. Hoggins, 'there is no being up to you; but if you don't like the ham, take a slice of this edge-bone—nothing's better than cold beef.' 'I beg your pardon, madam,' replied the indefatigable joker 'cold beef's better than nothing—Ha! ha! ha!'

'How do you find yourself now, my darling?' said Mrs. Cleaver to her son, who had been driven below by a shower, and kept his hat on, because, as he said, his 'air was quite vet.' 'Vy mother, I have been as sick as a cat, but I'm bang up now, and so peckish, that I feel as if I could heat any thing.'—'Then just warm these potatoes,' said Smart, handing him the dish, 'for they are almost cold.' 'I'll thank you not to run your rigs upon me,' quoth the cockney, looking glumpish, 'or I'll fetch you a vipe with this ere hash stick. If one gives you a hinch, you take a hell.'—'Never mind him my dear,' cried his mother; 'eat this mutton chop, it will do you good; there's no gravy, for Mr. Smart his all the sauce to himself. Haw! haw! haw' 'Very good!' exclaimed the latter, clapping his hands, 'egad! Ma'am, you are as good a wag as your own double chin.' This was only ventured in a low tone of voice, and, as the fat dame was at that moment handing the plate of her son, it was fortunately unheard.

Dick being still rather giddy, contrived to let the chop fall upon the floor, an occurrence at which Mr. Smart declared he was not the least surprised, as the young man, when first he came into the cabin, looked uncommonly chop-fallen. Dick, however, had presently taken a place at the table, and began attacking the buttock of beef with great vigour and vivacity, protesting he had got a famous 'happetite,' and felt 'as ungry as an ound.' 'I never say any thing to discourage any body,' said Mr. Croak, 'particularly young people; it's a thing I hate, but t'other day a fine lad sate down to his dinner in this very same packet, after being sea-sick, just as you may be doing now, when it turned out he had broke a blood vessel, and in twelve hours he was a corpse, and a very pretty one he made.'

'I'm not going to be choused out of my dinner for all that,' replied the youth, munching away with great industry, and at the same time calling out—'Steward! take away this porter-pot, it runs.'—'I doubt that,' cried Smart.—'I say it does,' resumed Dick, angrily, 'the table cloth is all of a sop.'—'I'll bet you half a crown it does'nt.' Done! and done! were hastily exchanged, when Mr. Smart looking round with a smirk, exclaimed—'Ladies and gentlemen, I appeal to every one of you whether the pot has not been perfectly still, and nothing has been running but the beer.' This elicited a shout at poor Dick's expense, who sullenly muttered, 'I'm not going to be bamboozled out of an alf-crown in that there vay, and vat's more, I vont be made a standing joke by no man.'—'I don't see how you can,' replied his antagonist, 'so long as you are sitting.'—'Vy are you like a case of ketchup?' cried Dick, venturing for once to become the assailant, and immediately replying to his own inquiry, 'because you are a saucebox.'—'Haw! haw!' roared his mother, 'bravo Dick! there's a proper rap for you, Mr. Smart.'—Somewhat nettled at the joke, poor as it was, the latter returned to the charge by inquiring of Dick why his hat was like a giblet pie? and after suffering him to guess two or three times in vain, cried, because 'there's a goose's head in it,' and instantly set the example of the horse laugh, in which the company joined. Finding he was getting the worst of it, Dick thought it prudent to change the conversation, by observing that it would luckily be 'igh water in the harbour when they arrived.' 'Then I recommend you by all means to use some of it,' said the pertinacious Mr. Smart, 'perhaps it may cure your squint.'

Both mother and son rose up in wrath at this personality, and there would infallibly have been a bourrasque (as the French say) in the hold, but that there was just then a tremendous concussion upon the deck, occasioned by the fall of the main boom, and followed by squeaks and screams of all calibres, from the panic-stricken company at the dinner table. 'Lord have mercy upon us!' ejaculated Croak with a deep groan, 'its all over with us—we are going to the bottom—I like to make the best of every thing—it's my way, and therefore hope no lady or gentleman will be in the least alarmed, for I believe drowning is a much less painful death than is generally supposed.'

Having run upon deck at this juncture, for the purpose of ascertaining the nature of the accident, which he found to be unattended with the smallest danger, the writer cannot detail any more of the conversation that ensued, until their arrival at Calais, which will form the subject of another paper.

WOMAN.

Sweet, tender sex! with snares encompassed round,
On others hang thy comforts and thy rest.—Hogg.

Nature has made woman weak, that she might receive with gratitude the protection of man. Yet how often is the appointment perverted! How often does her protector become her oppressor! Even custom seems leagued against her. Born with the tenderest feelings, her whole life is commonly a struggle to suppress them. Placed in the most favourable circumstances, her choice is confined to a few objects; and unless where singularly fortunate, her fondest partialities are only a modification of gratitude. She may reject, but cannot invite; may tell what would make her wretched, but dare not even whisper what would make her happy; and, in a word, exercises merely a negative upon the most important event of her life. Man has leisure to look around him, and may marry at any age, with almost equal advantage; but woman must improve the fleeting moment, and determine quickly, at the hazard of determining rashly. The spring-time of her beauty will not last; its wane will be the signal for the flight of her lovers; and if the present opportunity is neglected, she may be left to experience the only species of misfortune for which the world evinces no sympathy. How cruel, then, to increase the misery of her natural dependence! How ungenerous to add treachery to strength, and to deceive or disappoint those whose highest ambition is our favour, and whose only safety is our honesty!

Showing the time of Sun Rising and Setting for any place in the United States.

Observe that this Table is calculated for the declination of the sun when North, and that when the declination is South, the time of sun rising exhibited in the Table will be the time of sun setting;—also, the time of sun setting will be the time of sun rising.

In the Almanack for the month of May, opposite 20, the day of the month, and in the column under (sun dec.) the sun's declination, is 20 N. In the annexed Table opposite 20 thus found, and under 40, the latitude of Philadelphia, the numbers 7 11 4 are given; that is 7h 11m for sun setting, as marked on the top, and 11 minutes before 5 for sun rising.

In the Almanack for the month of February, opposite 25th, the day of the month, and in the column under (sun dec.) the declination of the sun, is 9 S. In the annexed Table, opposite 9 thus found, and under 40, the numbers 6 31 6 are given, and agreeable to the directions on the top of the table, when the declination is North, 6h 31m shows the sun setting, and 31 minutes before six for sun rising;—but in this instance, as the sun's declination is south, the sun rising must be taken for the sun setting, and the sun setting, for the sun rising, as shown in the observation above;—therefore, on the 25th February, at Philadelphia, the sun sets at 31 minutes before 6, and rises 6h and 31m.
